The media are reporting that while making an IMAX film for the National Air and Space museum, a Stearman nosed over and closed the runway at Washington National airport (DCA) today. Avweb Link .

The moment I saw the video, I wondered if the author of this article from "Plane and Pilot" magazine had anything to do with it.

It is no joke, this letter was actually published, Click here to see page one , and here for page two .
